24 Oct 10 – Heat 3 Consistency Heat 1 Club Championship

It was not a day for the faint hearted on Sunday. The wind came in big time against a lot of hot air predictions on the beach it wouldn't be so bad - wrong ! It was like an iron man race – tough. The second lap was nasty as the waves kicked up and so did the wind strength. Blew by You and Gill match raced it for much of the race before BBY pulled away. The bunch after them was close together with five boats over the line in less than two minutes. Many many boats gave it away. Some could be forgiven for calling it a day. Missi Bitchi did lose a mast over the side which although a bit careless was none the less a great excuse to make tracks back to the club via rescue boat. Others didn't have such defensible excuses but pulled the pin "Rapidely" anyway. The boys on G.T came down had a good luck and decided discretion was the better part of valour. One of our new boats Old Tom came down and did their sailing before it got ugly which was a good idea. Fifty Fifty made an appearance with its new owner and crew and they made it around the first lap which was a good effort. There were a few highlights for Doodad, watching Crack N Wood do a huge nosedive on the first downwind leg was special. Later we got to watch an S80 cruiser put up the kite, broach then get knocked flat, seeing the keel completely out of the water was something quite unusual. When it came back up all the crew were still on board which was even more amazing. It was probably quite a shocking departure from their usual chardonnay sipping tour around the buoys.

Club Notes:

Club Championship dinner:

Good to see quite a few of us staying down to enjoy dinner after sailing. If you have a family it's a good excuse to bring them down for a run around a feed. If not, you have something to soak up the beer consumed after sailing. The next Championship dinner is Sunday 14th November.

Consistency Competition:

The competition this year will consist of your best 15 consistency races.

Boat identification for spectators:

Jack Freeman of South Perth fun cats accosted me on Sunday with a good idea. He wanted pictures of all the boats with their sails up and boat names with them so spectators could follow what is going on from a distance. I have started this project (any volunteers to take it on?) and will add to it every week as I get photos of the boats. I will email it around as a PDF and put a copy out on the tables at the club on the weekend. It is attached, any feedback would be appreciated. After this is finished anyone who wants to change sails/boats needs to be approaching me carefully while I am at the bar.

Handicapper Job

Doodad is retiring as Handicapper/results person at the end of this season. STILL 0 x volunteers !

Financial Status:

No more scores/points after 1 Nov if you aren't financial. Next week is the last week.

TOOL OF THE DAY:

Crack n Wood has, after significant prompting, nominated a successor tool. After this week's huge nosedive and then a further swim they were a legitimate contender for the jacket again but decided that it just couldn't go on. So Missi Bitch is getting the jacket as reward to a stellar winter maintenance program, culminating of course in the loss of the mast. Ah awarding the tool virtually never fair but always interesting.
